Keeping your pet safe at home

Your newly adopted pet has a microchip registered to your name

- Whenever your personal information changes update your pet's microchip with the microchip company and with your local shelters
- Having a co-owner and multiple phone numbers on a microchip aides in getting pet's home faster

Keep your pet up to date on vaccines

- Puppies and kittens need 3 rounds of vaccines to start then all pets need yearly booster vaccines.

Dogs licenses are required with the city you reside in

- Licenses need to be renewed on a 1, 2, or 3 year basis in correlation with your dog's rabies vaccine

Keep pet's tags on during outings

- Tags help to reunite pets with owners outside of the shelters

Microchip and register any other pets in your household

Update personal information on your pet's microchip and with local shelters

Post flyers in your neighborhood with:

- Current picture of your pet
- Best phone number to contact
- Area last seen in
- Identifying markers such as spots, scars, collars, etc.
- If pet is microchipped

*Do not include microchip number

Distribute flyers to local shelters, neighbors, pet stores, and veterinarians

Check local shelters and rescues on a regular basis

Place items with your pet's scent outside of your home to help lure pet's back home
